a1. Figure 3 shows an example of a second configuration of an optical packet with a multiple wavelength label. As in the first example, these optical packets are divided into large bands $\lambda_1, \lambda_2, \dots, \lambda_n$. To form optical packets, in a small-band configuration a small band is allocated to each of the optical pulses used for each optical label that has a different center wavelength from the data signals, and all of the remaining bands within a large-band member is allocated for the data signal.
